

The empty and silenced room, started to fill up with joy. Their screams have almost awakened the dead mummies. But before they explore other side, they heard.... Someone's panting. That someone was Dilan, who got shocked by their scream. "H...ey... wh...at...hap...pend?"

"Well... We found something! Something to get out of here...and we called it a door... a door of heaven," replied Shohan.

And they opened it slowly, slowly but with hope...

Unfortunately, their hope vanished with the sight in front of their eyes. It was an underground conduit, which carries drainage water. In short, a "sewer."

"Oh no... I guess today's not one of our lucky days" Leesha hopelessly sat on the floor. "We shouldn't have come here." Their hopes started to fade away. Theirs! But not Dilan's.

"We're in a sewer. So, there should be a tunnel, which carries water, out of here. That means, we can escape from that tunnel."

"Y...E...A...H!!" Dilan Screamed.

"Hah!! Is he insane? How is he celebrating this prisoner's party?" Shohan nodded his head saying, "Hey! Are you out of your mind? It looks like you're enjoying this."

"Of cause I'm enjoying! I found a way out of here!" Dilan smiled.

"And would you mind telling us how?" the teenage lady stood up beaming with hope.

"Wow, Einstein! You're a genius," said the male, soon after they heard Dilan's description of escape.

They couldn't believe their eyes, after what they saw at the edge of the sewer. Their wide opened mouths showed how surprised they are, by seeing it.

"This is brilliant, who could've thought that we'll find something like this in a sewer?" Dilan's mind whispered.

"Where are we?" the girl broke the silence of surprise, in the room. "My god, what kind of place is this? I guess there's no way out!"

"It looks like we're in Dr. Shrank's laboratory. You know! The one who used to plant animals, in human bodies." Shohan laughed at his friend, as he knows she is a rabbit.

"Dork," she glared at him.

As he said, they were in a laboratory, but not Dr. Shrank's! This lab was full of machines, which are connected to a huge computer.

"This is the best thing that I have ever seen. What's more for our project? What do you say? Shall we take a look?" asked Dilan.

"But what if something bad happens?" questioned Leesha. "Is he out of his mind? I'm really scared, after what Shohan said."

"Yes! But what if it shows the way out? We can be free. So we have to take the risk," answered Dilan.

"I think Dilan's right Leesha! We can't swim through that small tunnel we saw in sewer's drain. So this might be our last chance, so just be positive, ok?" Shohan took her hand to comfort her. "We'll make it through! Somehow! I promise," he said.

"Shall we?" asked Dilan by reaching his hand on the start button. "I hope we won't regret this."

The lab was lightened and thousands of numbers were running up and down, on the screen. And suddenly, they were shocked by seeing, what appeared on the numbered screen.

I...s is... th...at... a GIRL? Dilan screamed, seeing the short, blond haired girl's face that