

He remembered her pretty face and smile. "I've never fallen in love with a girl for these 17 years, but this one took my heart away from the moment I saw her."

"See! I told you!! He's in love with that blond haired computer program," Shohan smiled at his friend.

"And now he's lost in her," Leesha winked. "D... I...L...A...N!! Your girlfriend's waiting," Shohan mocked at his friend, who got lost in another world, as he saw that girl's reappearance.

"What is a girlfriend?" asked the artificial intelligence.

"Mmm... nothing..."

"Oh! Come on Shohan, just stop it," Dilan tried to hide his crimson face. "By the way, I found your life story!!" He started to explain what he found.

"So, my name is Eve! An artificial intelligence and a guardian, which lives in a virtual universe!! Is that it?" She asked. "I'm afraid so," replied Dilan.

"And he created 'digital sevens' (kind of worriers looked like numbers/digitals, who are carrying swords, shaped as number seven) to stop you from leaving the fort, where you're living," added Shohan.

"You mean that creatures out there?" she questioned.

"Exactly," Shohan answered.

"So there's no way out of here?" Cried Eve. "I'm sure there's a way and don't worry we'll help you to get out," smiled Leesha.

"Guys, I think we should leave now, if not, we'll get stuck in detention fort. Its 5.30 now," said Shohan.

"Yes, we have to go now. See you soon, Eve! Don't leave the fort," Dilan uttered slowly.

"I'm going to miss you a lot. Shohan's right! I'm in love with her. And I'm going to get her out, somehow. I don't care who she is. True love is unconditional and still exists." The young teen fell asleep with the hope of his dream girl's "LIBERATION"!!