

What If ...

What if all the ants around the world were injected probiotics?

Then there would be a large army of giants to protect the world.

What if all the criminals could decide punishments?

Then all the judges would be within cells.

What if the only food existed were pumpkins? Then it would be Halloween every day. What if the entire population were only females?

Then more world wars would be added to history.

What if people who die don't really die instead, they go back to the real world?

Then I would die with my family now.

What if we were a TV show? Then the people on TV would be the viewers.

What if every time you
take a picture
a part of your life span gets trapped in?

Then how long you live
will depend on how many pictures you take.

What if my mirror is a portal to another dimension?

Then I would sell tickets
to explorers
And be the richest in the world.